

NIHERST S&T Research Database

Are you involved in Research & Development?

If so, NIHERST NEEDS YOU!

NIHERST is developing a database of S&T research professionals and their projects. This initiative aims to fill the gaps identified in both public and private sectors by matching local capabilities in S&T and R&D to the areas and applications to which their expertise is best suited.

Additionally this database will:-

- provide an important body of information on stakeholders to help shape the development of a national policy for S&T and R&D;
- enable NIHERST to more efficiently serve as a key point of contact for international organisations seeking to collaborate with local institutions/researchers; and
- support NIHERST's ongoing efforts to recognise and celebrate the premier scientists and researchers of Trinidad and Tobago by identifying candidates for the annual Awards for Excellence in Science and Technology.
